Making a Difference

Dyslexia doesn't discriminate, is hereditary, and affects 1 in 5 children. It is a neurological condition diagnosed and treated with education.

Payne Education Center, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, trains teachers to prevent reading difficulties in children and to remediate dyslexia, while serving as a resource and referral center.

Our schools struggle to teach these 1 in 5 children with dyslexia or reading differences. Utilizing the Science of Reading, teachers prepare students to decode words in an explicit and systematic manner. Substantial evidence proves it is the most effective way to teach ALL students how to read, but is vital for students with dyslexia.

With your purchase of a Premier Card, you are helping to ensure No Oklahoma Child Struggles to Read!

DYSLEXIA MYTHS

Don't believe what you've heard

1

IT'S A BOY THING

Not True. An equal number of girls and boys have dyslexia.

2

PEOPLE WITH DYSLEXIA READ OR SEE BACKWARDS

Incorrect. Dyslexia is a neurological disorder that is attributed to neuron pathways, not vision.

3

PEOPLE WITH DYSLEXIA NEED TO TRY HARDER

It's not about trying, it's about adapting.
Those with dyslexia work much harder than those without the learning disability to do what typical readers consider simple tasks. The brain is working overtime.

4

DYSLEXIA IS A SIGN OF LOW IQ

Not true again. Many accomplished people have been diagnosed with dyslexia like famous scientists, medical doctors, actors, attorneys, and more. While people with dyslexia are slow readers, they often are very fast and creative thinkers.

5

DYSLEXIA IS CURABLE

Not exactly. Dyslexia is a medical condition that has an educational remedy, however, one is never cured. There are strategies one can use to succeed.

MISSION

Payne Education Center trains teachers to prevent reading difficulties in children and to remediate dyslexia, while serving as a resource and referral center.
